

The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. Matthew 9:37-38

Hello Friend,

I feel I am writing you from a whirlwind. In the last 2 months, our team has engaged with 658 individuals on college campuses in the midwest including, students, faculty, and community members. Of those 52 said they would like to follow Christ as a result of attending the evening event. I have not been in attendance at the events, my role is to personally follow up with everyone who responded and make sure they are plugging into a local faith based community or invite them to be discipled through a weekly Bible study via zoom. Up to this point, I have been responsible for discipling all the women, yet I am relieved to have two other women join the team to share my load.

A Georgia Southern college student, Kiarra, met our team and was moved to turn her life to Christ. When I followed up with her, she said "I always went to church with my family, but I never made it my own. Now I want to make my faith my own." I am currently meeting with Kiarra regularly and she is ready to share her faith with those around her as she grows in Christ.

You may remember when I began in ministry twelve years ago, I started out sharing the gospel in Kiev, Ukraine. I've been in contact with many of my friends from there and I am relieved that they have been able to flee the country away from the war. My former roommate Masha said this "We had to leave our men there (in Ukraine), and other family and friends who could not come with us. We had to leave our lives there. We are constantly praying for this war to stop, so we could go back home and live our lives."

Thank you for your prayers for the students I am currently reaching and the ones we reached together years ago.
